Popular Ex-Service Man Marries Beautiful Wrangell Girl—Another Couple Romantically Inclined Arrive From States to be Wedded in Golden North

Scribner - Billion

The marriage of Miss Florence Mae Billion, and Mr. Lewis Carlton Scribner was solemnized Monday afternoon at 2:30 by Rev. H. P. Corser. The wedding was a quiet one, only relatives of the bride being present. The attendants were Miss Billion's mother and her aunt, Mrs. C. M. Miller and her cousin, Miss Louise Miller. The bride came to Wrangell with her parents seven years ago last July and has lived here continuously since that time. While a student at the Wrangell high school, she was treasurer of the Junior Red Cross, and has been serving as secretary of the Presbyterian Aid Society of which she is a member. She is a beautiful girl and has held a prominent place among the young people with whom she has associated. The groom came north in 1912 and has been a valued employee of the Sanitary Packing Company during all this time. He is a young man of exemplary habits and many fine qualities. Mr. and Mrs. Scribner went south on the Jefferson. They will visit relatives at Friday Harbor over the holidays and expect to return to Wrangell about January 15. The best wishes of all their friends go with them.

Johnson - Endicott

Miss Charlotte Edna Endicott of Portland, Oregon, and Mr. Olaf Johnson of Oak Point, Washington, were married by Rev. H. P. Corser at St. Philip's Church Monday afternoon at 1:45. Mrs. O. Carlson and J. E. Worden were the witnesses. The happy couple left on the Jefferson for Oak Point, Washington.

Thompson - Heath

An account of the marriage on Armistice day, of Albert Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Thompson of Raymond, Wash., and Miss Marjorie Heath of South Bend, Wash., was received in Wrangell last week by friends of the groom. The ceremony was performed at South Bend by Rev. C. B. Latimer of the Presbyterian church of Raymond. Mr. Thompson was bookkeeper for the Burnet Inlet Packing Company last summer and is well known here. His bride is the daughter of a veteran newspaper man, Val Heath now deceased. She has been employed at the Pacific State Bank of South Bend for the past two and a half years and is described as a very charming young woman who has a host of friends. Mr. Thompson is at present employed as deputy auditor of Pacific county, Wash.

Henderson - Mashin

Miss Blanche Rae Mashin, member of the Juneau school faculty, and Lester Dale Henderson, Commissioner of Education for Alaska, were married at the home of H. L. Faulkner at Juneau, on the evening of December 10, in the presence of a small gathering of

Juneau Republican Club Makes Various Endorsements

JUNEAU — (Special to the Sentinel)—The Juneau Republican club last night made the following endorsements:

For governor—James Wickersham.

For district judge—John Rustgard.

For surveyor general and secretary of the territory—E. P. Kendall.

For district attorney—H. H. Holden.

For United States marshal—J. T. White.

Copies of the endorsement have been sent to J. C. McBride, national committeeman, and Dan Sutherland, delegate elect from Alaska.

Matrimony Is Committed Under Difficulties

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson, strangers who came from the States to be married, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Scribner of Wrangell who were anxious to go south on the Jefferson, found considerable difficulty in setting a definite time for their respective weddings. The law states that a marriage license must be issued by a United States Commissioner, and Wrangell is without one at present, Judge Thomas being in Oregon for the holidays. On Saturday the state of affairs was cabled to Judge Jennings, but even a judge is helpless at times. However, a territorial law provides that the contracting parties in making application for a license, may make proper affidavits before a notary, and this provision was complied with by both couples. The U. S. Commissioner at Petersburg agreed to issue the licenses when the proper regulations had been met here, and so the two weddings followed one another on Monday.

The Fur Market

This year there are large stocks of furs still on hand. The strike of the fur workers forced manufacturers to shut down, thus shutting off the big outlet for all kinds of American furs. Consequently, the dealers are still carrying large quantities of the furs they bought from the trapper, and these at an enormous loss. Another reason was the over indulgence in speculation which caused values to become inflated to such an extent as to interfere with the healthy progress of the fur industry and rendered it unsafe for those who wished to operate in a conservative and legitimate manner. The foreign markets have also been badly crippled owing to the low value of money in the different countries. These have all contributed to bring about present conditions which are not what had been hoped for.

Presbyterian Church

Dr. J. H. Condit of Juneau will preach in the Presbyterian Church Sunday night, provided the City of Seattle arrives in time for Dr. Condit to be present. A cordial invitation extended to all.

Hogue Improving

Word has been received from S. L. Hogue of the firm of Hogue & Tveten who went south some time ago to receive the treatment of specialists, that he is steadily improving under their care and it is expected that he will return to Petersburg within a few weeks.—Report.

intimate friends. Rev. J. H. Condit performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson will be at home to friends at Juneau after January first.

Charles Benjamin returned from a business trip to Seattle Wednesday. This was Mr. Benjamin's first trip outside in 10 years. While in Seattle, he visited a sister who moved there from St. Cloud, Minnesota, some time ago.

The Redmen are planning for a big masquerade on New Year's Eve. Practical prizes will be given. The committee which was appointed to take charge of the affair will consist of Louis Lemieux, Arnt Sorset and Oscar Wickstrom.

A heavy snow fall descended upon Wrangell Monday night. It was followed by a lively gale and a downpour which took away much of the snow. A couple of pilings were dislodged near the machine shop during the storm. The heavy wind on Sunday night damaged the city's floating dock.

The Pathe News shown at the Rink Saturday and Sunday evenings contained a few pictures of the landing on Sergeif island of the New York to Nome airplanes. Only one of the planes was shown landing, but the picture was an excellent one and especially interesting to local people. Two Wrangell people were easily recognized in the picture, A. Lillian who returned to the States recently, and the editor of the Sentinel. The pictures were presumably a small section of the Suratt films.

The Bridge Club met with Capt. and Mrs. W. C. Waters Wednesday evening.

There was a stirring meeting of the Arctic Brotherhood last evening, at which Charles Benjamin and William Bitters were taken over the trail after which the Arctic Chief declared a recess of ten minutes to permit the two Cheechacos to bind up their up their bleeding feet.

Harry Horn of Tokeen left on the Jefferson this week en route to New York where he will spend Christmas with his sister. This is Mr. Horn's first trip east in 11 years. Jaynes stated that no one would be sent to Wrangell at this time to succeed Adjutant and Mrs. Carruthers, and that he himself would visit here at intervals and keep in touch with the work.

Mrs. J. W. Pritchett who went to Juneau on the Jefferson for dental treatment and expected to return on the same boat will be detained until the Seattle comes back. Miss Elliott is acting as substitute at the Government school. Mrs. Pritchett is staying at the Dawes hospital as a precautionary measure because of the severity of the dental trouble.

The Red Cross pictures which were shown by Miss Holland Friday evening in connection with the nursing course were seen by a large number of interested women. The course will be finished this week. The examinations are being held today and Miss Holland leaves on the Princess Pat for Bayview where she will assist the Government nurse in starting a course after which she will go to Ketchikan.

Dan Brown, son of Dr. A. B. Kearsley, whose illness called Dr. Kearsley to St. Louis some time ago, died there two weeks ago. When his mother left him to return to Wrangell, he was evidently improving but he grew worse later. Although only 19 years of age, Mr. Brown had seen service in the World war and was wounded in France. He had never fully recovered from the wounds.

The officers on the Seattle which reached Wrangell Tuesday morning reported a stormy trip from Seattle to Ketchikan, with the weather far worse at the beginning of the journey than after reaching Alaskan waters. Seattle was in the throes of a severe rain storm. It was also stated that conditions in the Queen city point to a very quiet Christmas. The stores are displaying large amounts of holiday goods, but making few sales except in toys.

When Wesley Sornberger went east to visit his family, he called at the office of the Great Council of Redmen, in Chicago, and in the current issue of "News from Headquarters," the official publication of the order, appears a cut made from a picture taken February, 1920, in the Redmen cemetery of Wrangell. The picture contains about 18 members of the Stikine Tribe who were engaged in placing markers on the graves of deceased members. The cut is accompanied by a short write-up, describing the cemetery.

Forest District For Alaska Is Created

Headquarters Will Be in Juneau With Charles H. Flory in Charge as District Forester.

In order to get the administration nearer to the ground, Secretary Meredith, of the Department of Agriculture, has just approved the establishment on January 1 of a new National Forest District, for Alaska. This will be known as the Alaska District, with headquarters at Juneau, and will be in charge of Charles H. Flory, as District Forester. Mr. Flory has been Superintendent of Alaska National Forests for the past two years, with headquarters at Ketchikan. The new District headquarters will remain at Ketchikan until July 1.

Colonel W. B. Greeley, the chief Forester, of the Forest Service, spent some time in Alaska last summer, securing first-hand information on conditions there, and as the result of his trip recommended to the Secretary Meredith the establishment of a separate National Forest District. According to information given out at the Portland office, there are two National Forests in Alaska, the Tongass in southeast Alaska and the Chugach in the Prince William Sound country. These Forests are now included in the North Pacific District and handled under direction of District Forester George H. Cecil, in Portland.

Assistant District Forester Waha of the Portland office states that the Alaska National Forests now become a separate district because of their increasing importance as source of pulp material and mainly to get the administration of Alaska forests as near to the ground as possible, a policy, Mr. Waha emphasizes, which the Forest Service has followed since 1908, when District headquarters were established in six Western cities to handle on the ground the protection and administration of the National Forests.

The announcement of the establishment of the new district is made at the Portland office almost simultaneously with the news from Washington that the President has authorized an Inter-Departmental Alaska Committee to coordinate federal activities in Washington having to do with Alaska. Mr. Waha brought out the point that the Forest Service was in entire accord with the idea of the Inter-Departmental Alaska Committee in Washington and that this move is considered as the most important one yet made by the government to correlate its efforts to develop the territory of Alaska. E. A. Sherman, Associate Forester of the Forest Service, who spent some time in Alaska, represents the Department of Agriculture on the new Alaska committee.

A new shingle mill will be constructed at Sitka in the near future.

Col. Warren, chief supply officer for the Alaska Engineering commission, states that miners employed by the government have been given an advance of $1.50 per day, making a total wage of $7.50 per day of 8 hours.

While the new congress is formulating an association of nations that will be acceptable to the American people, revising the tariff, preparing the budget for congressional appropriations and solving other national questions, it is hoped that some genius will arise and suggest a less intricate income tax statement that can be translated by the average man without the assistance of an attorney.—Anchorage Times.

Concerning Newspapers

(From Editor and Publisher)

It is hard to realize the predicament of a great city suddenly deprived of all its newspapers. We cannot fully appreciate the value of any great public utility until we have to do without it. From grim experience we know that a traffic tieup cuts off our legs, that a coal famine chills us, and that every other serious break in the ordinary run of daily affairs causes great inconvenience to the public and embarrassment and restriction to all business. But a tieup of all the newspapers of a city deprives the entire public at once of eyes, ears and world intelligence.

Such is the deplorable situation in the two great English cities of Liverpool and Manchester, where the newspapers are suffering complete paralysis as result of strikes declared last month. Some efforts in the way of small issues of photographic process afforded little relief to the general benighted condition.

What this means to a city is beyond mere conjecture. Some hint of it may be gathered from the sore experiences of Winnipeg, which passed through a like disaster and has furnished fugitive accounts of the effects "Ordinarily," according to one account, "all is life and gaiety in the streets of Winnipeg at this season of the year, but over the city now hangs a pall of dreariness and desolation."

The first effect is the depriving of the people of all authentic news of the day. The wildest rumors become current throughout the city. Ignorance heads an interminable procession of doubts, suspicions, anxieties and fears. Having no circulating medium of intelligence, the great mass of the population is utterly unable to discern what to believe and what not to believe, what to do and what not to do, what to expect and what not to expect. In the present delicate labor situation there is no limit to apprehension in Liverpool and Manchester as to what may be happening beyond the veil throughout all England and in all the world. Business cannot go on normally—is it worth while that it should go on at all? These are but suggestions of the grave confusion into which the public mind is thrown by lack of general intelligence.

The first material effect, of course, is the tremendous decrease in business. Having no medium of advertising, the stores suffer enormous losses. Theaters, unable to announce their attractions and the general depression causing many to remain at home. The experience of Winnipeg clearly demonstrates that without newspapers business cannot be effectively carried on and the daily routine life of a city cannot function.

This realization of the importance of the newspaper must impress upon editors and publishers a higher sense of their responsibilities. All the more keenly must they realize that they owe it to their communities to be accurate, honest and fair in every particular. General intelligence is the light of public life, and to guide it aright it must be genuine. Worse than worthless is news that is not true.

We Make Good

ASK YOURSELF—

Am I hitched up right, or am I a round peg in a square hole?

Do I feel every drop of blood and every fiber in me tugging away at my ambition, saying "Amen" to my work?

Am I backing up my chance in life in every possible way or am I sliding along the lines of least resistance?

Am I keeping myself fit to do the biggest thing possible to me every day of my life?

Am I working along the line of my talent or am I getting my living by my weakness instead of my strength?

Am I strengthening my weak points, making my strong points stronger and eliminating the things which are keeping me back, the enemies of my success?

Do I decide things quickly, finally, or am I forever on the fence, fearing to make definite decisions which I cannot reconsider?

Have I the initiative which begins things without being told to, which does things without waiting for others' instructions?

Do I dare attempt the thing I instinctively feel capable of doing and know that I ought to do?

Have I the courage which dares to branch out in an original way, dares to make mistakes that may humiliate me if I should happen not to succeed?

Do I try to develop that bigger man back of the smaller man I am by obeying the God urge that ever bids me up and on to greater endeavor?

If you can answer the above questions in the right way, you will bring out 100 per cent of your ability instead of the 50 per cent that the majority of young men are content to develop; you will attain your ambition and be what you long to be.—New Success.

It is no use. Nobody is going to have those common apples in salt barrels with dirty burlap for a cover.

One of the silo's fruits is that it means bare cornfields and the marring of Jim Riley's beautiful picture of "the fodder in the shock."

The past year was wonderful for crops. Food production was trebled and many republics were made to grow where only monarchies grew before.

Those who handle scrub stock may well view prohibition with alarm; passing of the saloon "free lunch" removes about the only market they have.—Oscar H. Adkinson in Farm Life.

THIS TOPSY-TURVY WORLD

Just as you go to a drug store to buy books;

And to a restaurant to buy cigars;

And to a barber shop to get your shoes shined;

And to a magazine stall for a nail file;

And to a bank for a calendar;

And to a farm for gasoline;

And to a railroad for milk;

So you may go to a schoolhouse nowadays for baked beans.—New York Evening Post.

FROM THE PENCIL'S POINT

Look out for hard times; the days are getting shorter.

The late husband catches the early morning lecture.

The more a man knows about love the less experience he has had.

Lots of men remain bachelors simply because they can afford to.

If the victims remain single there is no objection to love at first sight.

A childless marriage is not a howling success in one sense of the term.

Some men use all the material they have at hand making fools of themselves.

The Pioneers, their place in history will be the theme at St. Philip's Church Sunday evening, December 19. The trail breaker who breaks new trails is a hero of history. Every age has had them, and much of the good things have come from them. Is there a call today for more pioneers?

School Notes

Mrs. Towers is to give another concert to pay for the instruction that the children are getting in music. The concert will be given Thursday, the first week in January.

The partition for the assembly room and the eraser cleaner came last week.

At the last meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association they decided to give a picture to the school to be given to the room that had the largest number of parents represented at their meetings. Miss O'Connor's room won the prize and will have the picture in their room when it is ready. The Parent-Teachers' Association offers also a first and a third prize to the high school for the best papers written on the "History of Wrangell." The high school boys and girls should immediately begin to gather data for this purpose.

Mrs. Towers is drilling the children on Christmas carols for a musical program to be given in the assembly Christmas week. The exact date will be given in next week's items. At four o'clock on Christmas eve the carol singers will march in a body down Front street as far as the Episcopal Church and return by Church Street. If it is convenient it is requested that a candle be placed in the windows of business houses and residences passed by the children.

Elton Engstrom.

Two very interesting papers were read at the meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association last week. The first was a report of the National Education association at Salt Lake City which Miss Crosno attended last summer. After describing the convention in a general way, Miss Crosno touched upon various legislative measures which were endorsed, the demand for teachers of higher qualifications and the betterment of schools.

Mrs. William Paul's paper dealt with recent educational legislation. The Smith-Towner bill and the Smith-Hughes bill were explained in a very able manner by Mrs. Paul, these bills being the two most important educational bills of the present time. There are more than 70 educational bills before Congress, 20 of which involve large issues. The passage of the Smith-Towner bill will add a Secretary of Education to the President's cabinet.

Delicious Christmas candies! Where? At Den O'Sweets.

Nels Hawkinson, C. B. Cederholm and A. H. Wittig have severed their connection with the Carlisle Packing company and purchased the Alaska Sea Food company's plant at Cordova. It is reported that John Gilbert will be in charge of the Carlisle cannery next season.

The goods left over from the Christmas sale held by St. Philip's Guild has been placed on sale at the Den O'Sweets. The remaining Oriental goods may be seen at the home of Mrs. Jonsson.

A Demonstration of Real Economy: 2 lbs. of Mazola Fried 208 Doughnuts—2 lbs. of Lard Fried Only 138

MRS. A. LOUISE ANDREA—awarded the gold medal at the Panama-Pacific Exposition as lecturer on food and culinary topics—in a comparative test recently fried 208 doughnuts in 2 lbs. of Mazola, while only 138 could be fried in the same amount of lard.

At the same time this expert fried 2 1/2 lbs. of potatoes in 2 lbs. of Mazola, as against 7 lbs. 14 ozs. fried in 2 lbs. of lard.

Also, she fried 25 3/4 lbs. of fish steak, cut to a uniform thickness of one inch, in 2 lbs. of Mazola. Two lbs. of lard fried only 16 1/2 lbs.

This means that Mazola is from twice to more than three times more economical to use than lard, on the basis of actual accomplishment.

In each test, 4 lbs. each of Mazola and lard were fried down to 2 lbs.

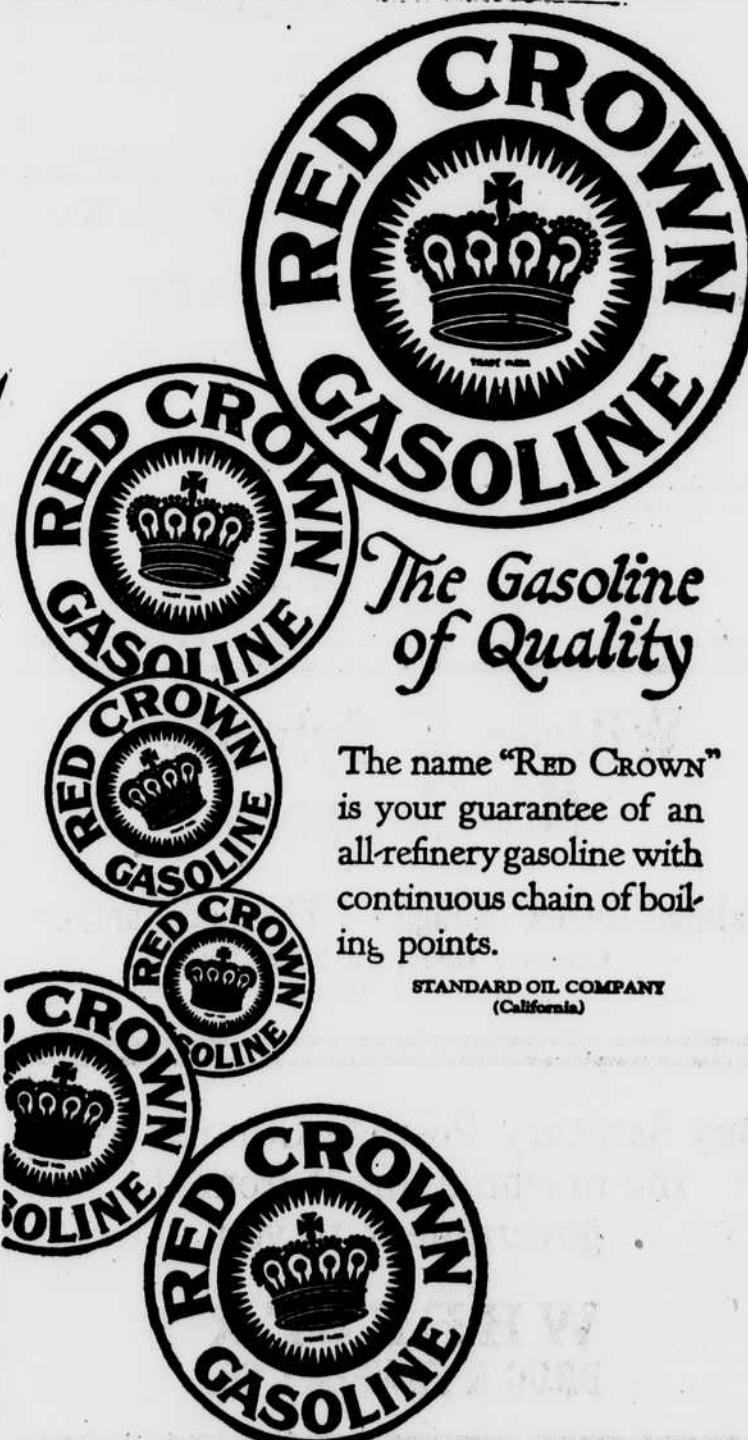

This confirms the experience of the seven million housewives who already use Mazola, the Great American Cooking Oil.

Further than this, because Mazola is a 100% pure vegetable oil there is no loss from evaporation, nor no loss of bulk from heating. It remains sweet and clean, and can be used over and over again, merely strain it.
